A Happy and Prosperous Year During 1931

News Notes

Lon Chaney—now the man of a thousand voices.

Seymour and Kari Williams were in Raymond on Monday evening.

When Lon Chaney talks the world stops to listen.

Mrs. A. E. Hancock and Mrs. Stan Cook were visiting relatives in Magrath on Sunday evening.

If everyone don't have a real enjoyable Christmas, there will be something very wrong with us.

Chaney, greatest of stars of the silent drama—ten times greater as a talking actor.

D. W. McDerby of the Standard Typewriter Co. of Calgary was a Raymond visitor on Monday of this week.

Lon Chaney talks in five voices. Can you guess which is his natural one.

Joe Strong and Delbert Gouley were the lucky Turkey winners at the Capitol Theatre on Monday evening last.

Are you going home for Christmas is a question that has been asked a great many times the past week or so.

All of the smaller grades in the Public School have had parties this week, and a number of the teachers left on Tuesday to spend Christmas holidays with relatives.

Aivin Billingsley, who has been at Technical School in Calgary for the past three months, came home by car with a friend Saturday evening and spent the night with Frank Quinton.

School at the A.C. was dismissed Tuesday afternoon following the usual Xmas exams, and nearly all of the staff and students left for home and loved ones on Tuesday afternoon and Wednesday morning.

David Laurie, left Friday evening to take the early morning train east from Lethbridge to go home to Scotland for a visit. "Dnvey" as everyone here knows him will be away for about three months.

The small children of the Raymond First Ward Sunday School had a big time Saturday afternoon last at their Christmas party. They played a few games, sang some songs, and then Santa Claus appeared with his big sack and gave all present a bag of peanuts and candy and sent them home.

MAKE THE DAIRY COW PAY

We note that recently in the Lethbridge Northern district a meeting was held at which problems of dairying were discussed, and it was the consensus of opinion that more cow testing should be carried on. If this gospel could be carried to every farm in Southern Alberta where cows are milked, the dairying industry in this part of Canada would double in five years.

So far our dairying has been pretty much of a hit-or-miss affair. We have dairymen with herds which average 10,000 pounds of milk or better each year. Then we have herds which are hardly worth the time and energy spent in dragging a few quarts a day from them. Somewhere in between we can strike a happy balance and by a policy of using purebred dairy bulls—some high producing dams and sires, if possible—it will not be long before we are approaching an average of 8,000 to 10,000 pounds average for each cow in milk.

Here in the irrigated country dairying offers one of the finest opportunities to make money. We can grow the feed and the pasture, the coarse grain and the silage. We have everything on which to build up a dairying industry worth while. In the past wheat has been the big crop in our mind's eye, and we have looked upon milking cows as a sort of piffling job hardly worth while. Now, when hundreds of thousands of Canadians are out of work, it begins to appear well worth while to build up a dairy herd which will give steady work and a steady income the year round.

But there isn't much incentive to carry on unless one is getting results and it is difficult to get results without breeding up a herd of good producers and feeding them so that they will have something to turn into milk. One way to get an interest in dairying is to weigh the milk, and try to feed rations in keeping with the amount of milk produced. If a cow is not making a profit, fatten her up, sell her to the butcher and try to get a real milker. Keep on testing, and it won't be many years before you have a real herd a real interest in the herd, and an income that will make wheat at 35 cents bushel look sick. Lethbridge Herald.

NEW WATERTON PARK BRIDGE COMPLETED

Word from Waterton National Park tells of the completion of the new traffic bridge at the entrance to the park. The new bridge will likely be open for traffic on Christmas Day and will be a marked improvement to the park next season.

The Normal School students arrived home Friday evening for Christmas holidays.

A Christmas Thought

LET ME LIVE BY THE SIDE OF THE ROAD

(BY RAM WALTER FOSS)

There are hermit souls that live withdrawn
In the peace of their self-content;
There are souls, like stars, that dwell apart,
In flowless firmament;
There are pioneer souls that blaze their paths
While the highways never ran;
But let me live by the side of the road
And be a friend to man.

Let me live in a house by the side of the road,
Where the race of men go by—
The men who are good and the men who are bad,

As good and as bad as I.
I would not sit in the scorners' seat,
Or hurl the cynic's ban;
Let me live in a house by the side of the road
And be a friend to man.

I need from my house by the side of the road,
By the side of the highway of life,
The men who press on with the ardor of hope,

The men who are faint with strife;
But I cannot away from their smiles nor their tears—
Both are parts of an infinite plan;
Let me live in my house by the side of the road
And be a friend to man.

I know there are broad-gladened meadows ahead
And mountain peaks of wearisome height;
That I've passed on through the long afternoon
And stretches away to night.

But still I rejoice when the traveller's voice,
And weep with the stranger's that moan,
For live in my house by the side of the road
Like a man who dwells alone.

Let me live in my house by the side of the road
Where the race of men go by—
They are good, they are bad, they are weak, they are strong,
Wise, foolish—so am I.
Then why should I sit in the scorners' seat,
Or hurl the cynic's ban?—

Let me live in my house by the side of the road
And be a friend to man.

Appointment of Lord Willingdon A- Vice-roy of India Finds Much Favor

BRITISH PRESS VOICES ITS APPROBATION OF CHOICE TO DIFFICULT POST

INDIA HEARS NEWS WITH GREAT PLEASURE

London, Dec. 20.—(Canadian Press Cable)—Announcement of the appointment of Lord Willingdon as Viceroy of India has been received with general approbation by newspapers of various grades of political ideas.

"There is certainly no lack here of distinguished service overseas," says the Times commenting on the appointment, "nor of special experience in India, neither is it to be regarded as an appointment made for party considerations. Premier MacDonald may fairly claim he is carrying in that admirable tradition of indifference to considerations of this kind which led Rt. Hon. Stanley Baldwin, for instance, to entrust the Indian statutory commission to Sir John Simon.

"The real doubt must be," continues the Times, "whether at 64 with so many of continuous governorships behind him, Viscount Willingdon can in the nature of things, possess the physical strength, the freshness, resources, capacity for world of rhetoric needed in Delhi today more than in any previous period in the history of India. It is to be hoped that the bracing climate and the comparative leisure in Canada where he has won universal popularity, may have given Lord Willingdon a new lease of active life.

TO TOW 17,000 TON DOCK TO NEW ZEALAND

London, England, Dec. 17; (Special to the Recorder)—What is considered one of the most unique contracts ever awarded has been given Swan, Hunter and Wiggin Richardson of Wallsend on the Tyne to build a 17,000 ton pontoon dock to be set up in Wellington, New Zealand. After it was built the problem of having it delivered in Wellington was solved by letting out a contract to a firm called the L. Smith and Company's International Tugboat Service, of Rotterdam, for the towing of the dock to New Zealand.

The dock measures 584 feet in length and 18 feet in width and will be towed by two powerful tugs. As the dock is too wide to pass through the Panama Canal, the route followed will be via the Suez Canal and Macassar and the Torres Strait a distance of approximately 13,500 miles. It is expected that the towage, the longest on record, will require about seven months.

Xmas Program Great Success

The children of the First Ward Kindergarten Sunday School Class were simply wonderful in their little play which they staged at the High School on Monday evening this week with Miss McMillan at the piano and Mesdames Allen, Litchfield, Misses Witbeck and Gibb all helping in the costuming, the little folks took their parts in a very creditable manner.

The first scene showed the children talking on their valises, etc., and then Santa Claus and his team of reindeer appeared and chose the smallest of the pines as the tree he was looking for, and then he departed to make his rounds. Little Norma Litchfield then gave two recitations during the changing of the scenes.

The second scene showed a home on Christmas eve and the expectancy and hope of the boys and girls as to what Saint Nick would bring them. Then Santa Claus came again and distributed his gifts. After this we saw walking and talking dolls, jumping jacks, bouncing balls, tin soldiers, big trains, elephants, etc., and as a climax, all of the children came on the stage and sang several songs before they said good-night.

The training the children received the work of the teachers in costuming, training, and inspiring confidence in the boys and girls was simply wonderful.

A good crowd was present to aid in the enterprise financially, and every parent present was proud of the work of his or her boys or girls.

News Notes

The silent picture made screen history—now hear Lon Chaney talk in "The Unholy Three."

A. E. Hancock, S. I. May and Eryon Vance were at the Magrath 1st Ward on a Home Missionary appointment Sunday evening.

Graveling on the Cardston-Lethbridge road is going ahead, and the gravel on Sunday stretched from Cardston to about 1/2 of a mile east of the St. Mary's river bridge. The gravel being used is well crushed and makes a splendid surface for the road. Boy, what joy when it reaches us here in Raymond.

Ward Conference was held in the Raymond 1st Ward Sunday evening with Pres. O. H. Snow and Pres. J. W. Evans of the Stake Presidency in attendance. Reports were heard from all of the ward organizations and special numbers: Vocal Solos, "Thou, Allan and Mrs. Dave Watson and a special number by the choir.

CHRISTMAS IS HERE

Tomorrow the world will celebrate Christmas. Filled with tradition, sweetened with a desire to gather to the home roof for that day above all others, a season of gifts and giving makes Christmas the one day that outlives all changes of speech, custom and style.

Who would disappoint the expectancy of the wee tots of the visit of Santa Claus when all the fond and cherished hopes of months find fulfillment, in fancy at least by the visit of Santa, who is there so old, or so soulless that they don't look forward eagerly and almost impatiently for the opportunity at Christmas of springing a surprise on someone, and of course being surprised themselves.

Christmas seems to breathe a spirit of altruism that none can escape, and despite the narrow soul, the shriveled spirit, the hardened heart, we often hear of the Christmas spirit transcending all of these obstacles, and revealing the wealth of good and God that every human soul, consciously or unconsciously is possessed of. Scorners may hurl their bitter shafts of ridicule and reviling of Christmas being a lot of child's play and foolishness, but Christmas goes right on and retains all of its beauty and glory.

If we have been foolish as kids to believe in Santa Claus, we are thankful that we were foolish, for some of our dearest memories centre around the pine tree at Christmas, and now that children of our own are full of enthusiasm and hope of Yuletide, we think there is no joy short of Heaven itself that exceeds the joy of parents watching and enjoying with the children the joy of the Christmas unwrapping of mysterious and unlooked for parcels.

For the joy that it brings into a world that is plenty full of sorrow, grief and hate, we are thankful for Christmas, and our hope is that Christmas and its many attendant joys and blessings will last forever.

CHRISTMAS PROGRAM AT SECOND WARD CHAPEL

The Sunday evening services in the Second Ward were all on Christmas, and were decidedly impressive. The choir rendered a number of carols and hymns of praise, which added to the spirit of the service.

Other musical numbers were as follows:—

Vocal Solo—Mrs. E. Scoville accompanied by her daughter Wyona.

Duet—Misses Eveson and Webster accompanied by Miss Lula Parsons at the piano.

Bruce Galbraith read from the Scripture and LeVar King gave a Christmas message.

The first speaker was Elder E. P. Tanner who gave a splendid talk on "Joseph Smith, the Modern Prophet." John H. Bridge spoke next on "Jesus the Christ and His Ministry" as told in song and story.

Raymond Hi Lights

The return game with the Jokers was played in the L.Y.P.C.A. Monday night, Dec. 22. From start to finish it was the finest game to watch that the local boys have played for many a day. The boys were off with the whistle, quickly running up fifteen points before the Jokers knew what it was a about. Brilliant floor work and generalship gave Raymond Hi. the long end of a 44-23 score. A feature of the game outstanding was the clean, fast play, free from fouls of a serious nature, a feature obtained by the excellent officiating of Hod Semmens and Kenneth Stne.

The H. S. held their annual Christmas party Tuesday afternoon. The Grade Ten class presented the program. For the first number we had an episode of Amos 'N Andy the parts were taken by Lincoln Wood and Ross King. They were so good we almost thought we were listening to the radio. Ruth Evans next gave a reading followed by the song "Silent Night", sung by the staff. Lenore Scoville then told all she learned at Normal and favored us with a reading. Velma Nailer and Treva Gibb who have also just returned from Normal, sang a duet. The concluding number was a little play entitled "David's Brave Attempt."

The next part of the party took place in the gym. Someone suggested that each grade have 10 minutes in which to compose, learn and sing a song about the R.H.S. Really, Irving Berlin or Leo Fiast had nothing over our grade. The judges were Alice Litchfield, Lenore Scoville, Treva Gibb, and Velma Nailer. Grade Ten was certain they had won the prize (a large box of chocolate bars) when to their great surprise Mr. Redd and his grade carried it off.

The party was concluded when refreshments were served.

As most of you were at the dance last Friday, there is no need of telling you what a success it was. The music was wonderful, the decorations beautiful, the Christmas tree loaded with tinsels, the school treasury was left somewhat enriched, and all in all the event was a huge success.

Mr. Low barely escaped being lynched by the students on Monday when he proceeded to make assignments for the holidays. Diplomacy told him it would be wise to cancel the said assignment.

Report cards will be issued on Jan. 5th.

SPECIAL SESSION TO REEVALUATE FARM LIFE OF DOMINION

Will there be two emergent sessions of the Canadian Parliament within six months?

One was called last September within six weeks of the election of Premier Bennett to deal with unemployment. At that time there was a year old and serious but not acute problem of farm depression. Solution of it had been attempted by the western Prairie Provinces.

The months which have elapsed since the September session of parliament have not indicated that provincial efforts were successful. Conditions in the Prairie Provinces are beyond local control. They are predicted upon local crop reverses and upon world market conditions.

They are accentuated by conditions in other branches of industry which the September meeting of Parliament was designed to alleviate; but the farm conditions in many communities could not be foreseen in September and could not be materially benefited by the action then taken by the Government.

Premier, Bennett, cabling from mid-ocean, has declared that the position of agriculture in Canada is his first concern and that until it is properly readjusted he has no time for official welcomes. What his decision on arrival will be is not clear but the impression on Ottawa is that he will call parliament together at least a month earlier than he anticipated in order that the agricultural situation may be dealt with.

The backbone of Canadian purchasing power is the new wealth brought to being each year by the grain fields of Canada and until that power is rehabilitated there can be no return of national prosperity.

WORLD'S GRAIN SHOW NOTES

Regina, Dec. 15—Formation, in Switzerland of a special commission representing all of the Swiss agricultural services to deal with matters relating to what part that country may take in the World's Grain Exhibition and Conference at Regina in 1932 was announced this morning from headquarters' office following the receipt of a letter from Dr. Koppell, director of the department of agriculture.

According to this announcement, Dr. F. T. Whalen, Director of the Swiss department of agriculture at Oerliion-Zurich has been appointed president of this commission. Its duty is to give consideration to plans, ways and means, etc. for carrying out the work connected with participation in the undertaking of 1932.

Dr. Whalen is well known in Canada. From 1922 to 1924 he was supervising analyst of the Dominion government seed branch of the department of agriculture. In 1924 he was appointed to the position of chief analyst which position he relinquished in 1929 for the purpose of returning to his native country. He is a graduate of a federal polytechnic school at Zurich.

AN OLD MAN OF—!

Quite frequently we read in the newspapers an account of the death of some citizen and, as part of this account, it is said that he was an "old man." Reading on, we learn that he was in his sixties.

In the eyes of many young people, particularly those in their early twenties, any person over sixty is old and ready for the scrap heap. We all know how difficult it is for the man of fifty to obtain new employment; he is classed as old in the labour market.

Is this a reasonable attitude? If it is, we can only say that the human machine is wearing out too quickly. After all, it is not the number of years a man has lived that determines the state of his body. It is the condition of his body at the present time that indicates his real age, the extent of his capacity for work, and what his expectation of life is.

We would not put into the same class all makes of motor cars, irrespective of the care they had had, five years after they had left the factory. No, we would take into consideration, to begin with, the type of car, and even more would we consider the care the car had received since it had been on the road.

We do not start out in life with equal advantages. Some of us have stronger bodies than others. The true age of a man's body at any period of his life depends upon the type of body with which he started life and the care he has taken of it since.

This casual way of calling people old because they have reached a certain age is all wrong. It comes rather as a shock to an individual when he is made to realize that because he has so many birthdays, he is now considered as belonging to the old age group.

He need feel nothing of the kind; he is only the age which he has made himself to be through the care he has taken of himself. Abuses and carelessness lead to premature old age, despite the occasional case that can be reported where someone had lived to be a hundred years old despite the fact that he had done everything which tends to cut life short.

There is much more interest and value in a healthy life than in a long one. Reasonable attention to right living and the avoidance of over-indulgence will increase the number of healthy years we can hope to enjoy.

WESTERN AIRPLANES SET NEW RECORD

Ottawa, Dec. 22; (Special to the Recorder)—In the first nine months of 1930 over 380,000 pounds of mail were carried by air mail services in Canada. One-half of the services operate out of Montreal. Two new services are projected. One will cover the route from Antos to Siscoe, newly settled districts in the Northwest Territories. The latter calls for 16 return trips during the winter and will be continued for four years. There are 500 aircraft flying in Canada, and the number of pilots is 717, of whom 403 are commercial pilots. Canada now has 72 air harbours.

Detailing the flights of the various air mail services, a recent report states that the Toronto-Buffalo line flew 7,800 miles in the three months July 1, to September 30, 1930 and carried 14,000 pounds of mail. All scheduled trips were completed. A total of 15,800 miles were flown on the Montreal-Albany service, and the operating efficiency was rated at 100 per cent. One hundred and thirty-seven passengers were carried in the last quarter.

Planes of the company operating out of Montreal, which has the contract for a number of mail services, flew 176,724 miles carried 691 passengers and its scheduled mail efficiency was rated at 96 per cent. This firm operates the Montreal-Toronto-Detroit, the Montreal-Saint John-Moncton, the Montreal-Quebec, and the Ottawa-Montreal-Rimouski services. Exceeding the former companies on a league, however, were the planes of a company operating out of Winnipeg. These flew 413,013 miles, carrying 5,534 pounds of mail. The percentage of regularity on scheduled times was rated at 97.4.

There are 21 light airplane clubs in Canada. For the nine months ended September 30th of this year, Members of the organizations had flown 11,567 hours. The membership totalled 2,887. Ontario has the largest number of flying clubs, with nine; Saskatchewan has three; Nova Scotia, Manitoba and Alberta two each; Quebec, New Brunswick and British Columbia, one each.

Mr. and Mrs. S. I. May, were in Cardston Sunday for a pre-Christmas visit with relatives and friends.

Here and There

(666) Canada looms more important than ever in the trans-Pacific carrying trade, since the Empress of Japan sailed from Vancouver recently with a total of 998 passengers for Honolulu and the Far East, setting a record for the Canadian Pacific while Empresses for the year and simply justifying the company's expenditure of $3,000,000 in a ship which is the largest and fastest on the Pacific.

Emergency work in the west on Canadian Pacific Railway construction this fall and winter represents expenditure of more than half a million dollars in alleviation of unemployment. The work is being undertaken in the provinces of Saskatchewan and Alberta. Similar relief in the East is seen in the fact that 550 former employees are now being taken on at the Angus Shops, Montreal, where they will work on repairs to passenger cars.

Bound on her 30,000-mile annual Canadian Pacific cruise around the world which will last four and a half months, the S.S. Empress of Australia sailed on the first lap of her voyage from New York December 2. She will touch at 81 ports and places in 24 countries during the trip and will be at sea 75 days and in port 59 days. She sailed with a capacity passenger list.

Patrons of the Royal York Hotel, Toronto, will enjoy the finest beef at the coming Christmas and New Year festivities possible to procure as a result of the purchase by the hotel management of 60 prize animals at the Royal Winter Fair held at Toronto recently.

A tablet has been erected at Windsor, N. S., by the Canadian Government commemorating the founding of King's College in 1789, the first university in Canada and the oldest in the British overseas dominions.

Total production of honey this year in Saskatchewan will be over 700,000 pounds, an increase of about 300,000 pounds over the output in 1929. Since 1927 the number of bee colonies in Saskatchewan has increased 213 per cent.

At the Ideal Homes Exhibition recently held in Edinburgh, Scotland, the Canadian exhibit was awarded the gold medal for general excellence. This award was made in the face of keen competition from more than 100 exhibitors from all parts of the British Empire.

A preliminary report on Canadian tobacco production shows the 1930 area at 41,391 acres and the production at 36,712,700 pounds, as compared with last year's area of 37,700 acres with an output of 29,785,000 pounds. In 1930 Ontario harvested 23,078,000 pounds from 32,170 acres; Quebec had 8,490,000 pounds from 9,000 acres and British Columbia 144,700 pounds from 221 acres.

Gross value of the manufactured products of the pulp and paper industry in Canada for 1929 was $243,970,761. This does not include pulpwood nor the pulp made in combined pulp and paper mills for their own use in making paper.
